2. James Lemuel STRATTON-2 (John-1) was born on 29 May 1820 in Ramsay, New Fenn, Huntingtonshire, England (near London). He died on 02 Oct 1892 in Bennington, Marshall, Illinois, USA. He was buried in Rutland, Marshall, Illinois, USA (Rutland cemetery).

Notes for James Lemuel STRATTON:

General Notes:

"James STRATTON, deceased, was for many years one of the leading agriculturists and respected citizens of Marshall county. He came from over the sea, his birth occurring May 29, 1820, at Ramsay, new Fenn, Huntingtonshire, England, and was the fifth in the family of ten children born to John and Sarah (WOOLEY) STRATTON. When thirteen years of age he accompanied them on their emigration to America, coming in a colony who had clubbed together to make the trip. In Vanderburg county, Indiana, near Evansville, the father purchased land on the old state road, and there spent his remaining days, dying in August, 1845. He brought enough gold with him from England, which, if judiciously invested, would have made him a rich man, but he settled in a thicket upon a tract of land which would take a lifetime to clear and develop.

Amid pioneer scenes James STRATTON grew to manhood, with no school advantages, all the education that he received being obtained in the schools of his native land before coming to the United States. The children were all kept busy by aiding in the development and improvement of the farm, where James remained until nineteen years of age, when he obtained work in a brickyard in Evansville. On the death of his father he came into possession of eighty acres of land, but, owing to its being heavily mortgaged, derived but little benefit therefrom.

In 1846 Mr. STRATTON became acquainted with Miss Marcia CHALCRAFT, of Posey county, Indiana, who was on a visit to a sister in Evansville, and on the 24th of December of that year they were joined in marriage. She was born in Tillford, near Fanham, Surrey, England, November 13, 1826, and was nearly twelve years of age when she came with her parents, James and Mary (EAD) CHALCRAFT, to the new world. They located in Posey county, where the father had come two years previously and rented land, but in 1844 he removed to Edwards county, Illinois, where he spent his remaining days. Mrs. STRATTON obtained a good education for those early days, which she has greatly supplemented by an extensive course of reading in later life, and would often read aloud to her family on the current issues and events.

In 1853 Mr. STRATTON, with his wife, two children and mother, came to Marshall county by way of the Ohio, Mississippi and Illinois rivers to Lacon, where they landed on the 19th of March. By team they proceeded to Bennington township, where he located a land warrant, and also purchased government land at two dollars and a half per acre, in all a tract of one hundred and twenty acres, to which he later added eighty. He was an energetic, enterprising man, but never enjoyed robust health.

Ten children were born to Mr. and Mrs. STRATTON, of whom nine are still living: Ruth Ann, widow of William BALL, by whom she had four children: James Henry, who died at the age of eight years; William R., whose sketch appears elsewhere in this volume; David M., of Memphis, Missouri, who is married and has four children; Mary E., wife of Marion J. FRENCH, who lives near Wenona, Marshall county, and by whom she has three children; Sarah E., wife of John LITCHFIELD, of Toluca, by whom she has two children; Louise Marcia, wife of Frank CARITHERS, of Bennington township, by whom she has three children; Ada Naomi, wife of Robert LITCHFIELD, by whom she has four children; and James Lemuel and Emma M., both at home.

Politically, Mr. STRATTON was originally a whig, and later supported the republican party. He passed away October 2, 1892, and was laid to rest in the cemetery of Rutland, Illinois. It is but just and merited praise to say that, as a citizen, he was honorable, prompt and true to every engagement, as a man he held the honor and esteem of all classes of citizens, and as a husband and father he was worthy of all imitation. He was a man of the time, broad-minded, public-spirited and progressive, and in his daily life and action was ever genial and affable. Mrs. STRATTON was always his close companion, aiding and cheering him in his work, and was truly a model helpmeet. Like her husband, she is surrounded by many warm friends and has the respect of all who know her."

from The Biographical Record of Bureau, Marshall and Putnam Counties, Illinois, 1896.

General Notes:

"William R. STRATTON, a well known resident of Toluca, was born on the 25th of August, 1854, in Richland township, Marshall county, Illinois, and is a worthy representative of one of its honored and highly respected families. His parents, James and Marcia (CHALCRAFT) STRATTON, were both natives of England, the former born in 1820, and the latter in 1826. When children they accompanied their respective parents to America, and both became residents of Indiana, where they met and were married. The paternal grandfather, John STRATTON located near Evansville, where he engaged in farming until his death.

For some time after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. STRATTON continued to reside in the hoosier state, and there two children were born to them, while the birth of our subject occurred the year after their arrival in Marshall county, Illinois. For a few years the father rented land here, and then purchased a tract on section 9, Bennington township, near the present site of Toluca. He became a well-to-do and prosperous farmer, making the most of his opportunities, and in politics was an adherent of republican principles. He has now passed away, but his excellent wife still survives him, making her home near Toluca.

Ten children were born to this worthy couple, nine of whom are still living, namely: Mrs. Ruth A. BALL, now a widow, living west of Toluca, and the mother of four children; James, who died at the age of eight years; William R., of this sketch; David, a resident of Memphis, Missouri, who is married and has four children; Mary E., wife of Marion J. FRENCH, of Evans township, Marshall county, by whom she has three children; Marcia Louisa, wife of Frank L. CARITHERS, of Bennington township, by whom she has three children; Sarah L., wife of J. P. LITCHFIELD, of Toluca, by whom she has two children; Ada Naomi, Wife of R. I. LITCHFIELD; and James L. and Emma M., still at home with their mother.

During his boyhood and youth our subject attended the common schools near his home, and remained under the parental roof until thirty-four years of age. For his faithful service there his father gave him eighty acres of land, on which there was an indebtedness of one thousand dollars. For three years he continued its cultivation and improvement and then removed to Toluca, where he has now made his home for over five years. At first he was employed in a lumber yard.

On the 2d of November, 1887, was celebrated the marriage of Mr. STRATTON and Miss Martha J., daughter of John and Emily LITCHFIELD, whose sketch appears elsewhere in this work. Four children have come to bless this union, namely: Arthur, born February 26, 1890; Lucile, born February 5, 1892, and Earl, born February 3, 1894.

Mr. STRATTON has been a strong republican in politics since voting for R. B. Hayes in 1876, but cares nothing for the honors or emoluments of public office. He is a straightforward, honorable citizen, and has made many warm friends throughout the community."

General Notes:

"William Lemuel BALL, who was called from earth in the midst of his usefulness, spent his entire life in Marshall county, his birth occurring in Lacon, November 19, 1848, and his death on his farm in Bennington township, August 12, 1884. His parents, Jonas L. and Elizabeth C. (FELLER) BALL, continued to reside in Lacon until he was about twelve years of age, the father following general merchandising. He then removed his family to a farm in Belle Plain township, where he became the owner of a large tract of land, on which he continued to live until about two years before his death, when he went to Bloomington, Illinois, and there passed away April 7, 1888. He was one of the honored early settlers of Marshall county, a man highly respected by all who knew him.

Besides the education received in the country schools, William L. BALL also attended school in Wenona, and completed his literary course in Eureka college, in which he was a student for several year. On leaving the schoolroom he was for a time a clerk in a dry goods store of Lacon, during which time he also read medicine, but at the end of a year gave up the idea of following that profession and began farming on his own account.

Register Report for John STRATTON

Generation 3 (con't)

On the 22d of February, 1871, Mr. BALL led to the marriage altar Miss Ruth A. STRATTON, who was born in Vanderburg county, Indiana, August 10, 1848, and is a daughter of James and Marcia (CHALCRAFT) STRATTON. Four children graced this union: Gertrude, who was born on the home farm January 3, 1872, and was married November 21, 1894, to Roscoe VAYNE, of Chicago; Cora E., born September 13, 1873; Frank D., born November 5, 1875, and William J., born August 24, 1881. Cora was educated in the Normal and Eureka college, while Frank attended the last-named institution two years, and also pursued his studies for one year in Galesburg.

Mr. and Mrs. BALL began their domestic life upon a farm of two hundred acres given him by his father, where she still resides. For three years they made their home in the old house standing there, and then erected the present comfortable residence of the family. The land was unimproved, but to its cultivation and development Mr. BALL devoted his time and attention until life's labors were ended, and transformed the place into one of the most desirable farms of the locality. At the time of his death he was serving as vice-president of the Wenona Union Fair association, and for years had taken an active part in promoting its interests and making it a success.

Politically, Mr. BALL was a lifelong democrat, was repeatedly elected supervisor of Bennington township, and was a prominent and influential member of the board at the time of his death. His name was often spoken of in connection with the democratic nomination for the legislature, and had he lived he would undoubtedly have been nominated and elected. He also served as school treasurer. From boyhood he was a consistent member of the Christian church, to which his wife and family also belonged, and was one of its most liberal supporters. His influence was great and always for good. His sympathy, his benevolence, his kindly greetings, will long be remembered. His duties were performed with the greatest care, and throughout his life his personal honor and integrity were without blemish. His home life was beautiful and exemplary. Ardent and constant in his affections, he was a most tenderly devoted husband, and an indulgent father. His body now rests in Antioch cemetery."

from The Biographical Record of Bureau, Marshall and Putnam Counties, Illinois, 1896.

"Throughout life this gentleman was identified with the agricultural interests of Marshall county and won a place among the prosperous and well-to-do farmers of the community in which he made his home. He was born in Lacon on the 19th of November, 1848, and was a son of Jonas L. and Elizabeth C. (FETTER) BALL. For many years the father was engaged in general merchandising in Lacon, but when our subject was twelve years of age removed to a farm in Belle Plain township, on which he engaged in agricultural pursuits throughout the greater part of his life. He died on the 7th of April, 1888, honored and respected by all who knew him.

During his boyhood and youth William L. BALL pursued his studies in the public schools of Marshall county, being a student in the schools of Wenona for a time, but he completed his education at Eureka College, which he attended for several years. On starting out upon his business career he engaged in clerking in a drug store in Lacon and afterward read medicine, but at the end of a year decided to abandon that profession and turned his attention to agricultural pursuits. After his marriage he located on a farm of two hundred acres given him by his father, which at that time was improved, but to its cultivation and further development he turned his attention, finally transforming it into one of the finest farms of Bennington township.

Mr. BALL was married February 22, 1871, to Miss Ruth A. STRATTON, a native of Vanderburgh county, Indiana, born August 10, 1848, and a daughter of James and Marcia (CHALCRAFT) STRATTON. Four children blessed the union of Mr. and Mrs. BALL, who in order of birth were as follows: Gertrude, born on the home farm January 3, 1872, was married on the 21st of November, 1894, to Roscoe BAYNE, D. D., at Henry. Cora E., born September 13, 1873, is now the wife of H. H. BECKWITH, who is operating the old home farm, and they have one child, Harold, born September 26, 1903. Frank D., born November 5, 1875, now conducting a livery stable in Toluca, married Miss Nellie MATHIS, daughter of the postmaster at that place, and they have three children, Ruth Irene, James William and Floyd Raymond. William J., born August 24, 1881, died on the 20th of April, 1902. The children were given good educational privileges, Cora having attended the normal college and also Eureka College, while Frank was for two years a student in Eureka College and afterward pursued his studies for one year at Galesburg.

Mr. BALL was recognized as one of the most enterprising and progressive men of his community, and was called upon to take an active part in public affairs. At the time of his death, which occurred on his farm in Bennington township, August 12, 1884, he was filling the position of vice president of the Wenona Union Fair Association and had for several years been actively identified with its prosperity. At an early age he united with the Christian church, to which his wife and family also belong, and throughout life gave a liberal support to all -measures which he believed would prove of public benefit or would advance the moral and material welfare of his native county. By his ballot he always supported the men and measures of the democratic party, and was honored with several local offices, serving many years as supervisor of Bennington township, and was chairman of the board for four years, being one of the leading members of the board at the time of his death. He was several times spoken of as a candidate for the legislature, and had he lived would undoubtedly have been nominated and elected. Marion J FRENCH son of Elbridge Elzia FRENCH Jr and Elizabeth JUDD was born on 19 Oct 1853 in Marshall, Illinois, USA. He died on 20 Nov 1922 in Evans, Marshall, Illinois, USA.

Notes for Marion J FRENCH:

General Notes:

"Marion J. FRENCH, an enterprising and progressive farmer residing on section 6, Evans township, is the son of Elbridge E. and Elizabeth (JUDD) FRENCH. The father was born in Maine, in 1823, was reared to manhood in that state, and came with his father, Elbridge E. FRENCH, Sr., and family, to Illinois, in 1850. The mother, who was born November 8, 1830, was but an infant when brought to Marshall county, and was reared on the farm where our subject now resides. She was the sister of Benjamin JUDD, a sketch of whom appears elsewhere in this work. In 1855 she was called to her final rest, but the father is still living. To them were born two children - Marion J., whose name heads this sketch, and William, deceased. After the death of his mother our subject was taken to the home of his Grandmother JUDD, who died April 1, 1879, at the age of seventy-five years, and on the farm where he still lives grew to manhood.

"Alfred JUDD, his uncle, remained single, and unselfishly devoted his life to the care of his mother. His birth occurred on the 5th of November, 1822, and at the age of nine years, with his parents, he located upon the farm which was ever afterward his home. His education was such as the district schools of the neighborhood afforded, but he was always a great student, and devoted much time to general reading, so that he became one of the best posted men of the locality. He made agriculture his life work, and all his interests seem to center around his farm and his home. On the death of his father, he purchased the interest of the other heirs in the old homestead, and as years advanced added to the original tract, made extensive improvements upon the place, including the present substantial building there found, and placed the land under a high state of cultivation. He accumulated much property, which at his death was left to his brothers and sisters, or their legal heirs, his nieces and nephews, twenty-one in all. He was a man of the strictest integrity and honor, straightforward and reliable, and his advice was often sought by his neighbors, who placed in him the utmost confidence. After a long and useful life, replete with many acts of charity, his earthly career was ended on the 2d of September, 1895, and he was laid to rest in the Cumberland cemetery. Among his may worthy deed was the giving of six acres, which now forms the grove lying between the cemetery and the Cumberland Presbyterian church. He cared nothing for the honors or emoluments of public office, and the only position he would accept was that of school director, which he filled for several years.

"Mr. FRENCH was born October 19, 1853, and during his boyhood and youth attended the common schools of Evans township. On the 20th of May, 1880, he was united in marriage with Miss Mary E. STRATTON, who was born November 11, 1859, and obtained her education in the schools of Bennington township. Her parents, James and Marsha (CHALCRAFT) STRATTON, were both born near London, England, the former in 1820, and the latter in 1826. The father crossed the Atlantic to America in 1836, settling first in Indiana, but four years later became a resident of Illinois, remaining a short time at Round Prairie, Marshall county. Later he located in Bennington township, where he was numbered among the early settlers, and upon the wild prairie improved a fine farm. There he died in

The mother is a faithful member of the Christian church.

"To Mr. and Mrs. FRENCH have been born three children - Hattie E., Lola M., and Ralph W. and the family is pleasantly located upon the old Judd homestead on section 6, Evans township, where nearly the entire life of our subject has been passed. He gives his exclusive attention to his farming interests, owning six hundred and thirteen acres of valuable and productive land and the neat and thrifty appearance of the place plainly indicates that it is under the supervision of one who thoroughly understands the business which he is following. On political questions he affiliates with the democratic party, and has served as school director in district No. 3 Mrs. FRENCH, a most estimable lady, holds membership with the Christian church." from The Biographical Record of Bureau, Marshall and Putnam Counties, Illinois, 1896.

Upon a farm in Belle Plain township, Mr. LITCHFIELD continued to reside until March, 1893, when he removed to Toluca, to accept his present position as clerk in the hardware department of the Toluca Lumber & Hardware Company. He is a stockholder and charter member of the same, also a stockholder in the First National bank of Toluca, and interested in the grain business under the firm name of Litchfield & Company. He is a straightforward, reliable business man, and wins the confidence of all with whom he comes in contact.

Mr. LITCHFIELD cast his first presidential vote for Grover Cleveland in 1884, and has since supported the men and measures of the democratic party. He received the nomination for assessor, but was defeated in the great landslide of 1894. In 1893 he was elected village trustee, becoming a member of its first board. "Of this family, Robert I. LITCHFIELD was born on the home farm in Bennington township, May 24, 1864, and was provided with a good common school education. "R. I. LITCHFIELD, who follows farming in Bennington township, is a native son of Marshall county, his birth having occurred in that township May 24, 1864. His father, John LITCHFIELD, was born in Cambridgeshire, England, in 1821 and was a son of Richard L. and Sarah LITCHFIELD, also natives of that country. In 1847 the grandfather came to America at the age of eighty-seven years, there being ten in the party, and located on a farm in Indiana, where he spent his remaining days. His wife, who was an earnest and consistent member of the Baptist church, died at the age of sixty-seven years. In his family were nine children, all of whom came to America, with the exception of the eldest daughter who spent her entire life in England.

In the schools of his native country John LITCHFIELD acquired a limited education and at the age of fifteen years came to the new world, being thirteen weeks upon the water and landing on New Year's day of 1837. The voyage was made in a sailing vessel, the St. Lawrence, of an American line belonging to a company at Richmond, Virginia. Mr. LITCHFIELD first set foot on American soil at New Orleans and, proceeding up the Mississippi river, settled in Indiana, where he made his home until 1849, when he removed to Macomb, McDonough county, Illinois, where for two years he was engaged in teaming. It was in 1851 that he took up his residence in Bennington township, Marshall county, where the year previous he had entered one hundred and sixty acres of land. As time passed he prospered in his farming operations and became the owner of over three hundred acres of land, two hundred acres of which constitutes the old homestead. For the past six years, however, he has made his home in Toluca, where he is now practically living retired, enjoying a well earned rest. His political support is given the men and measures of the democracy. Near Evansville, Indiana, he was married in 1853 to Miss Emily PALMER, who was born in England in 1832 and is still living. This worthy couple are now the parents of ten children,

In early life R. I. LITCHFIELD pursued his studies in the Palmer school, which was named for his maternal grandfather, and he early became familiar with all the duties that fall to the lot of the agriculturist. In 1882 he commenced farming on his own account on the old home place and has since met with excellent success in his chosen field of operation. For the past six years he has operated the home farm, but in the meantime he lived just across the road for some time, having lived for five years upon a farm belonging to his mother, which is now a part of the village of Toluca. He next removed to Belle Plain township, where he lived on a place belonging to his father for six years and then returned to the old homestead in Bennington township. In connection with farming he devoted considerable attention to stock-raising, making a specialty of polled Durham cattle for the past ten years and has a fine registered bull at the head of his herd.

In 1888 Mr. LITCHFIELD married Miss Naomi STRATTON, who was born in Bennington township, Marshall county, in 1868 and is a daughter of James and Marcia STRATTON, farming people of that township. The parents were both born in England and are now deceased. Mr. and Mrs. LITCHFIELD have become the parents of six children, namely: Emily M., who was born in 1889 and is now attending normal school; Ray B., born in 1892; Ruth I., in 1894; Orville L., in 1896; Esther, in 1900; and Mildred, in 1904. Mr. LITCHFIELD takes quite an active and influential part in local politics and has been called upon to serve as road commissioner for two years in Bennington township and also two years in Belle Plain township. He is an enterprising, wide-awake business man of known reliability, and as a citizen stands high in public regard."
